MEMO TO THE MEDIA

It is the express purpose of the Rutgers Sports Information Office to assist all those interested in Rutgers football. Your requests for interviews, pictures, slides, film, feature stories, facts and figures are welcomed. Telecopier service is available at our College Avenue Office in Alexander Johnston Hall during the week and we will do our utmost in helping you file your stories from the press box after the game. These services are free of charge. Please advise this office of your need for telecopier assistance prior to each home contest and also make arrangements through your local telephone company for placement of special phone orders.

Normally, there is room for only one commercial radio station and one student station covering visiting teams, so please request permission to broadcast as soon as possible. The official visiting stations will receive priority.

RUTGERS, THE STATE UNIVERSITY

Only one university in the United States can claim a colonial background, designation as a land-grant college and the status of a state university. Rutgers, New Jersey's State University, has this distinction.

Rutgers had its beginnings when clergymen of the Dutch Reformed Church in America launched a movement for a new college in the Province of New Jersey in the mid-eighteenth century.

As a result of their efforts, Royal Governor William Franklin granted a charter for the college in the name of King George III of England on November 10, 1766. The college was the eighth founded in the colonies.

A second charter, under which college study actually began, was issued by Governor Franklin in 1770, naming the institution Queen's College in honor of Charlotte of Mecklenburg, the Royal Consort.

Classes first opened in 1771 in a tavern in New Brunswick, The Sign of the Red Lion, under the tutelage of Frederick Frelinghuysen. In 1774, 19-year-old Matthew Leydt, son of a clergyman, trustee and founder of the college, became the first graduate.

After weathering the Revolutionary War, the college built its first building in 1791 in downtown New Brunswick. But it was not until 1809 that work began on Rutgers' oldest existing structure, Old Queens.

In 1825, the trustees renamed the institution Rutgers in honor of Col. Henry Rutgers, a New York philanthropist and Revolutionary War soldier who had given the college modest financial assistance and the bell which still hangs in the cupola of Old Queens.

In 1864 Rutgers was designated by the State Legislature as the Land-Grant College of New Jersey.

Rutgers College assumed University status in 1924 and in 1945 the Legislature designated all of its divisions as the State University of New Jersey. The New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station, established on the campus in 1880, also became part of the State University at this time. And within four years the University of Newark and the College of South Jersey at Camden were added as major divisions, thus expanding the campus of the State University to two of the major urban centers of the state.

The relationship between Rutgers and the State was carried a step further when the Legislature in 1956, on the proposal of the Board of Trustees, created a Board of Governors to run the University. The name of the institution was also changed under this act to Rutgers — The State University.

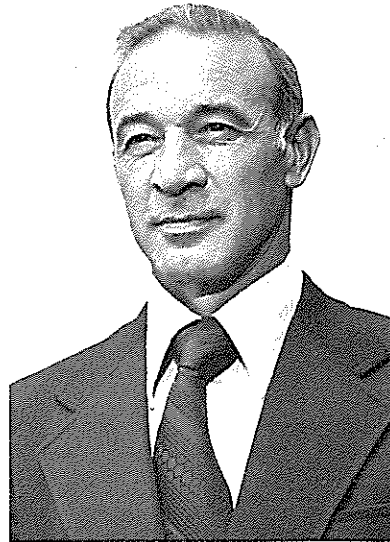

Edward J. Bloustein became the 17th president of Rutgers, The State University, in 1971. A lawyer, political theorist, philosopher and teacher, Dr. Bloustein believes that the central role of a university is to help its students "develop human perspective through an understanding of the social, biological, physical, and historical bases of life . . . A university is a place for living just for preparing to live."

FRANK BURNS

HEAD FOOTBALL COACH

"They just kept coming at us and coming at us." These were the words of several Arizona State players following the Garden State Bowl game last December and their coach added praise for the performance of the Scarlet Knights in the Giants Stadium contest. Frank Kush said, "They are really underrated. They took away our running game and made us pass more than we wanted to." The words were not obligatory.

They accurately reflect the reputation built by Frank Burns over his long coaching career and especially over the six seasons as head coach at Rutgers. Opposing teams expect well-disciplined units and fundamentally sound offensive and defensive play when they lock horns with Burns and his Scarlet Knights.

Burns has earned that reputation across the nation, as player, coach and man. A 1949 graduate of Rutgers, he started at quarterback between 1945 and 1948, a period now known as "The Golden Era," during which the Scarlet posted a 27-7 record. An All-East selection twice, "Flinin' Frank" received honorable mention on a number of All-America teams and was named the most valuable player in the New York Herald-Tribune All-Star game.

"At Rutgers," Burns says, "I learned how to win and what it takes to be a winner."

Following his graduation, Burns played professionally with the Jersey City Giants but returned to his alma mater to begin his 30-year career, as coach of the freshman running backs. He became the freshman head coach in 1953, later coached the varsity backfield and was named offensive coordinator and associate head coach under John Bateman in 1968. His only absence from the Banks was a two-year period when he assumed the head job at Johns Hopkins (1951 and 1952) where he produced a 6-9-2 record as one of the nation's youngest head coaches.

In his first season as head coach, Burns compiled a 6-5 record, the first of six straight winning campaigns. In 1974, the Scarlet improved to 7-3-1 which included an impressive win over Air Force and the celebrated 6-6 tie with Princeton, the first stalemate on the record books since 1952. After splitting the first four games in 1975, Rutgers went on to win the last seven straight to post a 9-2 mark, launching an 18-game win streak that would include the undefeated 11-0 squad in 1976. Rutgers was ranked 17th with a defense that became only the sixth in NCAA history to lead the nation in three defensive categories. A bid to play in the Independence Bowl was declined.

Rutgers topped all other defensive squads in total defense, rushing defense and tied Michigan for the leadership in scoring defense. Limiting opponents to 179.2 yards a game, just 83.9 rushing and allowing 7.4 points on the average, the Scarlet joined Auburn, Penn State, Duke, Duquesne and Santa Clara as the only teams to turn the impressive trick.

For the achievement, Burns was honored as the Coach of the Year by the Walter Camp Foundation and the New Jersey Football Writers Association. The 1976 Scarlet Knights were selected the ECAC's Division I Team of the Year.

In 1977, after opening the season with a pair of tough losses, Rutgers rebounded with a six-game win streak and produced an 8-3 record. Burns suffered a heart attack following the fifth victory and missed the final four games, but, by January, was back on the job. However, in May, he underwent a successful quadruple artery operation and spent the summer in recuperation, returning to full-time duty in August.

Again named the New Jersey Coach of the Year, Burns praised his 1978 squad with the kind of sincerity which has become his trademark:

"I am as proud of this team as I was of the undefeated one. The men played with great pride and poise. Like the seniors, the younger men have learned how to win, and, we hope, will carry the same kind of pride into the coming season. I can't say enough about what this team achieved."

SCARLET COACHING STAFF

ROBERT NASO, Defensive Coordinator

A member of the Rutgers coaching fraternity since 1961, Bob Naso has molded the Scarlet defensive unit into one of the best in the East since he assumed the position of defensive coordinator in 1968.

A 1959 Rutgers graduate, Naso was an All-American lacrosse player at Rutgers in addition to performing at two positions, center and blocking back, for the Scarlet single-wing football teams between 1956 and 1958.

When Frank Burns was felled with a heart attack two seasons ago, Naso took over head coaching duties with four games remaining on the schedule. During his tenure as the Scarlet pilot, Rutgers was 3-1.

His coaching career began immediately after he graduated, when he became an assistant coach with both the lacrosse and lightweight football squads. After a brief stint in the Army, Naso returned to Rutgers to become varsity lacrosse coach and direct the freshman football program.

Naso gave up his duties as lacrosse coach in 1974 after 13 years and a 95-59-1 career record which included two appearances in the national playoffs.

Naso, his wife Carol, and their three daughters, Andrea (18), Cynthia (15), and Felicia (11), live in Piscataway.

PETER SAVINO, Defensive Backs

Remembered as one of the finest football players ever to wear the Scarlet, Pete Savino is entering his sixth season as coach of the defensive backs.

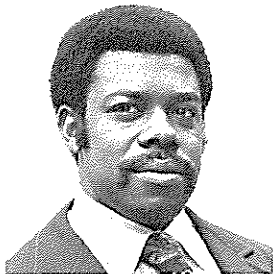

Savino, a versatile athlete who played quarterback, wide receiver and defensive back, was the first recipient of the New Brunswick Touchdown Club Trophy which recognized the impact his ability, leadership and dedication had on the Scarlet grid program.

The 1969 Rutgers graduate was named a freshman assistant football coach in 1969 but he missed the following year due to a military obligation.

Following his military stint, Savino directed the Scarlet yearlings to a two-year 7-6 mark before being appointed defensive backfield coach in 1973.

TED COTTRELL, Defensive Line

Under the direction of Ted Cottrell, a former professional lineman, Rutgers players learn the tactics Cottrell employed as a pro with the Atlanta Falcons and Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

A graduate of Delaware Valley, where he won All-Middle Atlantic Conference honors for three years as a grid star, Cottrell is beginning his fifth season on the Scarlet coaching staff.

Cottrell's imposing manner and concern for his players helped him earn the respect of all associated with Scarlet football following his appointment as one of Frank Burns' aides.

WILLIAM SPERANZA, Offensive Coordinator

One of the best quarterbacks ever to wear the Scarlet, Speranza led his Rutgers team to a perfect 9-0 log in 1961 and helped Rutgers post its second undefeated season in 1976 as offensive backfield coach.

Speranza now enters his seventh season as offensive backfield coach and his third as offensive coordinator for the Scarlet.

A 1962 Rutgers graduate, Speranza began his coaching career in 1965 when he guided the Knight's freshman team to a 5-0 mark. Two years later, after the sub-varsity unit compiled another unbeaten (5-0) season, Speranza became coach of the varsity defensive backs.

Speranza is credited with the development of running back "JJ" Jennings, who led the nation in scoring in 1973. Record-setting quarterback Bert Kosup, durable Mike Fisher and, most recently, fullback Glen Kehler are bright spots on Speranza's long list of credits.

JAMES TAIGIA, Offensive Line Coach

A former Rutgers football star and an ex-sailor, James Taigia has been directing the Scarlet offensive line since 1968.

The "Chief" has the uncanny ability to get the word across when he barks orders to his offensive troops while his insistent methods have motivated Rutgers linemen since he joined the football staff.

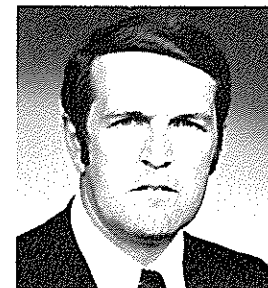

A tough two-way guard on the 1947, 48 and 49 teams, Taigia helped those Scarlet squads sail through 8-1, 7-2, and 6-3 records. After an outstanding scholastic coaching career at Rahway, Piscataway and Hillside, Taigia accepted a coaching position at his alma mater.

Taigia, a former basketball official, is especially noted for the development of the Scarlet's outstanding 1976 offensive line, a unit that made 287 points possible during the 11-0 campaign.

RICHARD CURL, Varsity Receivers

The Chester, Pa., native graduated from Richmond in 1962 where he lettered as a signal caller and earned an A.B. degree in History. He completed his graduate work at Bloomsburg State (Pa.) and Glassboro State.

Curl coached at Cherry Hill East High School for five seasons before serving for one year as offensive coordinator at Trenton State College. The following year, as the Lion's head coach, Curl directed his team to a 5-4-1 record.

FREDERICK E. GRUNINGER DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

Appointed Director of Intercollegiate Athletics and Recreation in January, 1973, Fred Gruninger continues to head an expanding Rutgers sports program with unrivaled enthusiasm and confidence.

Under Gruninger's capable direction, the Scarlet program has grown from 16 to 29 programs, and the State University fields 33 intercollegiate squads. Achievements such as a berth in the NCAA basketball tournament's Final Four (1975-76), an undefeated football season (1976) and an appearance in a major post-season football bowl game, the Garden State Bowl in 1978, are just some of the highlights of the athletic renaissance on the Banks.

The AD's aggressive leadership and administrative talents have led to the addition of teams like Alabama, Tennessee and Penn State to the football schedule.

"We have sought to make the program as effective and varied as possible, for both men and women, without exception," Gruninger says.

A 1953 graduate of Rutgers, Gruninger played football and baseball as a collegian, and later excelled at golf, which included a brief stint on the pro tour. As the Scarlet golf coach between 1964-73, he recorded a superlative 109-30-2 record.

Prior to his current appointment, Gruninger served as assistant, then associate athletic director, for nine years after a five-year tour of duty in the Alumni Relations department.

A native of Fanwood, Gruninger earned his master's degree from Rutgers in 1961. Gruninger and his wife Barbara, are the parents of three children, Mark, Katherine and John, and reside in Martinsville.

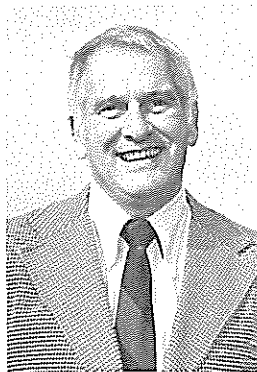

DONALD HEILMAN, ASSISTANT DIRECTOR

Donald "Bud" Heilman first came to the Banks in 1966 as an offensive line coach after six successful years as head football coach at Kutztown State College in Pennsylvania.

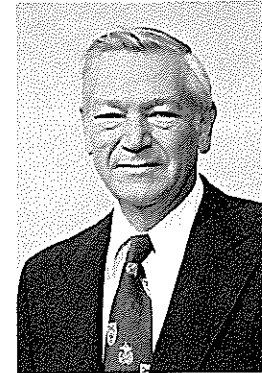

One of the most popular and pleasant personalities on the Rutgers staff, Heilman was appointed assistant director of athletics in 1969.

Heilman, a native of York, Pa., and a graduate of West Chester State, served as an enlisted man on a Navy destroyer in the Pacific and European Theaters from 1943 to 1946 before he began his coaching career as an assistant at Downingtown, Pa., High School, in 1950. He later served as head coach at Alexis I. duPont High in Delaware for five years before joining the college ranks as an assistant at Bloomsburg State.

Heilman and his wife Nancy reside in Spotswood and are the parents of seven children. His son, Buddy, played halfback for the Scarlet in 1975 and is now pursuing a career as a sports journalist.

OTTO H. HILL, BUSINESS MANAGER

A member of the Rutgers staff for over 30 years, Otto Hill was appointed business manager of athletics in 1961.

A 1942 Rutgers graduate, Hill was a member of the football staff from 1947 through 1955. He served as junior varsity coach, head freshman coach and varsity end coach during his coaching tenure with the Scarlet Knights.

Hill also enjoyed coaching the freshman swimming team for nine years and piloted the varsity mermen during the 1953-54 campaign.

A former associate professor of physical education, Hill is a veteran of Army Air Force service during World War II and earned a master's degree from Rutgers in 1947. In 1961, Hill was nominated as "Business Manager of the Year" by the College Athletic Business Managers Association.

A native of Brooklyn, Hill, and his wife, Elizabeth, live in Franklin Township and are the parents of three children. Their son John is a former offensive lineman for the New York Giants and is presently playing football for the New Orleans Saints.

PART-TIME ASSISTANT COACHES

The Rutgers coaching staff will include the following part-time assistants: Rutgers graduates Jack Hohnstine '66 and Oakley Pandick '50; a pair of long-time local scholastic coaches, Mel Caseiro of East Brunswick and Ron Helley of Madison Township; and Mike Jacobs and Greg Gigantio, both recent graduates of Wagner College who will serve as graduate assistants.

THE 1978 SEASON... A LOOK BACK

After a perfect record, 11-0, in 1976, followed by an 8-3 record in 1977 and preceded by a 9-2 mark in 1975, it was difficult to know what to expect from the Scarlet Knights in 1978. The team would be without the offensive kingpins of those great years — quarterback Bert Kosup and halfbacks Mike Fisher and Mark Lassiter.

What Rutgers did was to regroup with amazing success, impressing in an opening season loss to Penn State, a team that would go undefeated until the Sugar Bowl, and then launching a nine-game winning streak. Disappointed that the streak would not reach 10, Rutgers might look back to blame the final loss to Colgate on the drama that unfolded a week previous in Worcester, Mass.

A history-making ending was demanded and the Nov. 18th contest in Worcester provided it.

The Knights had to defeat Holy Cross for Burns to author the perfect ending to his script. The Crusaders had "upset" on their minds and were out to spoil Burns' final chapter of the drama.

If the Scarlet Knights won, they were virtually assured of receiving a bid to play in the first Garden State Bowl at Giants Stadium on Dec. 16th. Holy Cross desperately wanted to beat the Scarlet, and, in the process, enhance their own season and possibly earn consideration for the bowl, also.

In a bitterly contested game with six lead changes, Rutgers survived and managed to come from behind to win a 31-21 contest against the Crusaders.

The scene ended according to Burns' draft and the curtain call would come approximately two hours after the game at 6 p.m. that evening.

As the hands of the clock reached that appointed hour, bowl selection committees across the nation were offering bids to deserving teams.

By virtue of the win, Rutgers was offered the chance to play in the first Garden State Bowl and, without hesitation, the Knights accepted.

After winning nine straight following an opening season 26-10 loss to top-ranked Penn State, the Scarlet was rewarded with a bid to a major bowl game.

The season had become a great success for Burns and his dedicated players.

However, the road to the bowl was filled with many challenges.

The Knights responded to those challenges with enthusiasm as they defeated a number of rugged teams along an obstacle-filled road.

Following the loss to Penn State, the Scarlet journeyed back to Pennsylvania to face Bucknell in the second game of the young season. Although plagued by costly turnovers and penalties, Rutgers dropped the Bisons, 27-13, and set the stage for a long winning streak.

Arch-rival Princeton, a team the Scarlet first met in 1869 in the nation's first collegiate game, loomed as the next Rutgers opponent at beautiful Giants Stadium.

With over 25,000 fans watching this long-standing rivalry, the Knights and Tigers played a listless first half before Rutgers came alive in the second stanza and cruised to a 24-0 win.

The Ivy League again provided the opposition the following week when Rutgers traveled to New Haven for a date with the Bulldogs at Yale Stadium.

Yale posed a potent passing combination that featured quarterback Pat O'Brien tossing the ball to tight end John Spagnola. The Eli moved the ball well but a stubborn Rutgers defense stiffened as the Scarlet went on to win a 28-27 thriller and claimed its third win in a row.

Returning to Rutgers Stadium, the Knights welcomed Connecticut to the banks of the Raritan. The weather forced many fans to seek shelter from the rain but Rutgers went on to post a slow-paced 10-0 victory.

Villanova was next on the agenda and the Wildcats hoped to spoil the Homecoming celebrations. However, Rutgers posted a 24-9 win, its fifth straight of the season.

Highlighted by Dave Dorn's 94-yard TD run on the opening kick-off, the Rutgers offense switched into high gear and defeated Columbia 69-0 in a return to Giants Stadium.

Rutgers had defeated three Ivy League teams and began to emerge as one of the best squads in the East, posting a 6-1 record at this point.

A rugged Massachusetts team appeared next on the schedule as talk of a possible bowl bid for Rutgers surfaced in numerous metropolitan newspapers.

However, the consensus of opinion pointed out the fact that Rutgers had to keep winning in order to remain in consideration for post-season action.

Rutgers, in fact, did keep winning. The Scarlet defeated Massachusetts, 21-11, but now faced a major challenge against highly-touted Temple University.

Losers only to Penn State and Pittsburgh prior to the Rutgers game, Temple was a major candidate for the Garden State Bowl as the game took on a great deal of significance.

The Knights played inspired football and, although outgained by Temple, managed to win the contest on a 31-yard Kennan Startzell field goal with 48 seconds remaining in the game.

Rutgers then dropped Holy Cross to secure the bowl invitation but ended the regular season on a sour note by losing a 14-9 game to Colgate, a team that had only won two games before visiting Rutgers.

Rutgers had many individual heroes throughout the season, highlighted brightly by the spirited play of senior fullback Glen Kehler.

A native of Westfield, Kehler is second on the all-time Rutgers rushing list, trailing "JJ" Jennings, who holds down first place with 2,934 yards. Kehler owns 2,567 yards of turf.

Kennan Startzell, a junior kicking specialist, established a pair of records during the season, connecting on 31 or 32 PATs and 15 of 19 field goals to lead the Scarlet scoring with 72 points. Startzell holds the all-time Rutgers field goal record with 33 and broke his own season record of 11.

Sophomore flanker Dorn of Glassboro gave the Scarlet untold big plays over the 12 games, racing for 1,450 all-purpose yards while handling the football just 99 times. The top receiver with 27 catches, he was an absolute thrill.

Frank Burns' record soared to 50-16-1, including the 34-18 loss to Arizona State in the Garden State Bowl, the first ever post-season Bowl in Rutgers' long football history. The Scarlet Knights opened up a 10-0 lead over the Sun Devils in the GSB and held a surprising 10-7 advantage at the half before falling to a strong aerial attack in the third period.

Eight Rutgers players were named to the Associated Press All-East squad. Sophomore middle guard Ed Steward gained first team honors as well as honorable mention All-America recognition. Senior offensive tackle John Gallo was a first team UPI All-East selection. Dorn, Kevin Kurdyla, Mark Freeman, John Bucci, and Tim Blanchard picked up AP second team honors and Kehler and Dino Mangiero were honorable mentions. Senior linebacker Jim Hughes, an ECAC All-East pick, was chosen to play in the Blue-Gray game.

Looking back at the season, one can only have respect for Frank Burns, his staff, and players.

Rutgers fashioned an impressive 9-3 record, finished third in the balloting for the Lambert Trophy, which signifies the best collegiate team in the East, and earned a trip to a major Bowl game, its first, but hopefully not its last.

1979 SEASON OUTLOOK

Only minutes after the final action last year, Frank Burns threw a challenge to those who would form the nucleus of this year's squad. While praising his seniors for their Garden State Bowl effort and a successful four-year output, Burns glanced ahead and lodged a message in the minds of the returnees, still in the Giants Stadium dressing room.

"The seniors have played with tremendous pride and poise for four seasons," the Scarlet coach said. "We hope the men returning have learned from you how to win and that they will carry the same kind of pride into the coming season."

Spring practice gave every indication that the message got through. By his own admission, Burns enjoyed a very satisfying session, except, of course, that no coach is totally pleased with what he sees in practice.

Thirty lettermen return from the 9-3 season in 1978 including 13 starters, six from a defense which limited a dozen opponents to 165 points and seven from the offense which produced 284 points.

Middle guard Ed Steward (Jr., 6-1, 240), an All-East first team selection and an honorable mention All-America, Dino Mangiero (Sr., 6-4, 255), who had nine QB sacks among 98 tackles, and Mike Rustemeyer (So., 6-3, 255), a starter over the last half of the season, should make the Scarlet tough up front on defense.

But, the loss of linebackers Tim Blanchard, Jim Hughes and Dan McMahon will pose a problem. Also to be missed will be two-year starter Phil Parkins, a defensive end who transferred with intentions of forgoing the game.

The defensive secondary, if depth develops, could be strong with the return of senior safety Mark Freeman and juniors Deron Cherry and Ken Smith. Freeman and Smith had four interceptions each and Cherry, who handles the punting chores, had three.

Five offensive line starters give the Scarlet a strong look up front and include guards Pete Honeyford (Sr., 6-1, 230) and Mike Kubas (Jr., 6-2, 230) who will be backed by veterans Pete George (Jr., 6-2, 235) and Guy Sarna (Sr., 6-4, 245). Junior Kevin Kurdyla (6-5, 240) will be starting for his third season at tackle and George Carter (Sr., 6-5, 210) his third at tight end.

The quarterback spot will be a dog-fight between senior Bob Hering and junior Ed McMichael. Hering started every game in 1978, completing 88 of 193 passes for 1,193 yards and five TDs. McMichael was 22 of 34 (64.7) for 294 yards and three touchdowns.

They will have veteran receivers in Carter (13 rec. — 2 TDs), junior split end Tim Odell (13 rec. — 1 TD) and junior halfback Ted Blackwell (13 catches, also). But, the chief target will be junior wide receiver David Dorn, the 1978 MVP, who caught 27 passes for 535 yards and three TDs.

Dorn, in addition to his receiving, ran 45 times for 358 yards, returned 12 punts for 192 yards and had 365 yards on 14 kickoff returns. The 6-2, 185-pound speedster totalled 1,450 all-purpose yards and is a threat each time he touches the ball.

Although three-time rushing champ Glen Kehler is gone from his fullback spot, the Scarlet returns a pair of fleet runners in Blackwell and junior Lester Johnson. Blackwell blossomed as a sophomore and gained 532 yards on 120 attempts for four TDs while Johnson, injured for much of the season after an outstanding freshman year, had 342 yards on 82 carries for five scores.

Senior Bill Martin (161 yards on 35 attempts and two scores) seems heir to Kehler's fullback spot.

Specialist Kennan Startzell will take Scarlet PAT and field goal records into his senior year after leading the scoring with 76 points in 1978. He was 31 of 32 in extra points and 15 (long of 46) of 19 in field goals. He has scored 195 points on 33 field goals and 96 conversions.

Burns' success should continue but the schedule shows such tough customers as Penn State, Tennessee and Louisville on the road and Army, Holy Cross, Temple and Villanova at home. No easy ones anywhere.

Burns is 6-5, 7-3-1, 9-2, 11-0, 8-3 and 9-3 for his six seasons. That comes to a career mark of 50-16-1, an average of better than eight wins per season.

RUTGERS

RUTGERS

WILLIAM MILLS, 19, 6-3, 210, sophomore linebacker from Endicott, N.Y. . . . Quikquote: "Has good size and strength. He had a very good spring and will be competitive for a starting position in the fall."—(Naso) . . . Rutgers Experience: Was the offensive center for the sub-varsity last year. Moved from that spot to outside linebacker, a position he is also familiar with from high school, during the spring. Is aggressive and can play a number of positions . . . Scholastic Experience: A two-way performer at Endicott High School. As one of the top football players in New York State, he earned first team All-American and All-State status at both defensive end and center. He also lettered in track . . . Major: Business.

RUTGERS

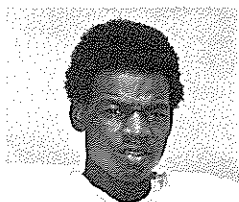

BRYANT MOORE, 19, 6-1, 205, sophomore running back from Florence . . . Quikquote: "An excellent young player. Is a slashing type runner who breaks tackles with authority. Lacks great speed, but is a very good short yardage runner and blocker."—(Speranza) . . . Rutgers Experience: Was the starting fullback on the sub-varsity last year. Lacks varsity game experience, but look for him to continue to improve and make a solid contribution . . . Scholastic Experience: Was the leading scorer in South Jersey in 1977 as a fullback for Florence High School. Broke a single season scoring record held by Pittsburgh Steeler star Franco Harris with 120 points. He received all sorts of post-season accolades, including all-South Jersey recognition. A superb all-round athlete who also lettered in track . . . Major: Liberal Arts.

RUTGERS

RAY MOORE, 19, 6-3, 225, sophomore defensive end from Irvington . . . Quikquote: "Ray possesses good quickness, agility and strength. We moved Ray from tackle to end last spring and he has made the adjustment very well. He should see considerable action this year."—(Cottrell) . . . Rutgers Experience: Played mostly in a reserve role last season behind Dino Mangiero and Mike Rustemeyer. The move to defensive end will afford Moore an opportunity to earn a starting assignment . . . Scholastic Background: Won two football letters at Irvington High School as a defensive and offensive tackle. Also lettered in basketball and track . . . Major: Liberal Arts.

School. Landed a starting assignment as a senior . . . Major: Liberal Arts.

JIM ZURICH, 19, 6-3, 230, sophomore offensive tackle from Hillsdale . . . Quikquote: "Jim is only a sophomore and he had a good spring. His progress and development has earned him a back-up berth on our line."—(Taigia) . . . Rutgers Experience: Saw time with the sub-varsity squad last year. Has good quickness and agility and is a extremely dedicated athlete. Should make a solid contribution to this year's club . . . Scholastic Experience: Earned All-League, All-Suburban and All-County honors as a lineman for Pascack Valley High School. Was also a standout pitcher in baseball . . . Major: Liberal Arts.

FRESHMAN RECRUITS

Following an extremely successful 1978 season, including the first Bowl appearance for Rutgers, head coach Frank Burns and his staff landed a number of highly-touted freshmen recruits.

A variety of heights and weights abound on the roster, ranging from 5-7, 160-pound placekicker Alex Falcinelli of Belvidere to 6-6, 250-pound Tim Conway of Hyattsville, Maryland.

The Scarlet Knights have had great recruiting success in the Garden State as well as in New York and Pennsylvania over the years.

When the new class assembles, 16 Scarlet Knight players will travel from points in New Jersey while seven others will journey from New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland.

Beach Haven's Keith Wenal (6-5, 210) is a rugged defensive end who is expected to challenge for a starting assignment while Anthony Cella (6-6, 230) of Claymont, Delaware, will be challenging for a slot on the offensive line.

Expected to add speed and depth to the offensive unit is quarterback Ralph Leek of Egg Harbor City. Leek, a fine all-round athlete, was ranked as one of the finest signal-callers in New Jersey as a scholastic performer.

Phillipsburg's Rich Milburn, a 6-2, 175-pound quarterback, and Matawan's ace running back Steve Bethune (6-4, 190) also rank as welcome additions to the Scarlet Knight football program. Bethune joins his brother, T. R., on the Scarlet squad, marking the third brother combination in the past few years at Rutgers.

All of the incoming players carry distinguished athletic honors, ranging from All-America to home town hero.

It's apparent Frank Burns and his staff have attracted another fine group of athletes to the State University. The newcomers will have every opportunity to prove themselves and help Rutgers maintain that tradition of excellence for which it is noted.

THE STADIUM . . . THE HOUSE THAT LITTLE BUILT

When Rutgers Stadium was built 41 years ago, it was never intended to be the biggest, tallest, deepest or most expensive of Eastern stadia. It was just designed to be the most pleasant possible setting for collegians to play a football game, run a track meet, play lacrosse or soccer and for spectators to watch.

In addition to the beautifully-grassed, quick-draining football field, imperceptively crowned and underlain with literally miles of drainage pipes and tile, the plant included a cinder track that was far ahead of its time. Its 220-yard straight-away was one of the few in the East and the track itself, assigned the year before as a research project to the College of Agriculture, was built after visiting, core-sampling and analyzing the soil mixtures that went into the fastest tracks in the world. When the traditional cinders became impossible to replace due to the demise of the steam locomotive, an English cinder track, called, "En-Tout-Cas," was imported in 1964, and proved to be the fastest cinder surface in the world. The first sub-four minute mile was run on "En-Tout-Cas" at Oxford in 1954 by Roger Bannister.

In time, all things become out-dated. In the summer of 1978, the English cinder track was replaced by the current "world's fastest" surface, "Rubaturf." This is a beautiful red vulcanized rubber surface that is absolutely perfect for training and running fast races. The track is permanently painted in International metered distances and is completely porous in that the rubber and the asphalt sub-base absorb water. The original superb drainage system still serves both the track and the football field, and is fed through this unique all-weather surface.

The "Father" of the stadium was one George Edkin Little, who arrived on the scene in 1932 as Director of Athletics. He secured a Federal grant for $330,000.00 in 1935 for the grading and planting of athletic fields. With further generous Federal aid, the stadium was dedicated one week short of three years after the first grant was a reality. Fittingly enough, the dedication game of the new facility was with Princeton November 5, 1938, with the Scarlet winning for the first time against its arch rival since the first collegiate game in 1869.

Welcome to Rutgers Stadium.

FOOTBALL NOTES

The Scarlet Knights enjoyed a 9-3 mark in 1978, a season that included an appearance in the first Garden State Bowl at Giants Stadium against Arizona State. The occasion marked the second time the Scarlet was invited to a post-season bowl game. Rutgers was offered a spot in the Independence Bowl against Southwestern Louisiana after a perfect 11-0 campaign in 1976 but declined the invitation.

Seniors Tim Blanchard, John Bucci, Sam Davis, John Gallo, Jim Hughes and Glen Kehler earned their fourth varsity letter last season. The feat set Rutgers football history, marking the first time that six players on one team earned four monograms apiece. Only seven other players have realized this honor over the past 27 years. Freshmen were ineligible to play varsity football at the State University between 1954 and 1972.

Rutgers opens the 1979 season against the Crusaders of Holy Cross at Rutgers Stadium. The Sept. 8 contest will afford Holy Cross the opportunity to avenge last year's 31-21 loss to the Scarlet Knights. The loss dropped the Crusaders from consideration for the Garden State Bowl while the Scarlet win propelled the Knights into the Bowl.

The Scarlet will make only one regular season appearance in Giants Stadium during the 1979 campaign, hosting Army on Nov. 10. Rutgers has had much success in Giants Stadium, posting a 4-2 record over three seasons. The Scarlet Knights defeated Princeton and Columbia last year at the beautiful Meadowlands complex before losing a 34-18 contest to Arizona State. The Scarlet won the first intercollegiate game played at Giants Stadium with a 47-0 romp over Columbia in 1976.

The 1979 football season marks the 110th anniversary for Rutgers football. The first intercollegiate football game was played on Nov. 6, 1869, against Princeton in New Brunswick. Rutgers won that historic first game, six goals to four.

Rutgers Stadium will celebrate its 41st anniversary in 1979. The 23,000-seat stadium was dedicated on Nov. 5, 1938, and was the scene that day of one of the Scarlet's Knight's most memorable football victories. The Scarlet Knights thrilled the dedication day fans with a stunning 20-17 win over Princeton, the first Rutgers win over the Tigers since 1869.

The Scarlet home field has produced 31 winning seasons over the 41 years of its existence. Last season's 3-1 home record, tarnished by a 14-9 loss to Colgate in the final regular season game, helped extend the Scarlet's home winning streak to 20 games before the loss.

Rutgers holds a series lead over four opponents on the 1979 schedule. The Knights hold the edge over Bucknell, Temple, Connecticut and Louisville and comes off wins against eight of the 11 opponents. Seven teams return from last year's schedule, but none, except Tennessee, are newcomers to the schedule. Rutgers faced Army in 1972, Louisville in 1976 and William and Mary in 1977. Tennessee becomes the 99th collegiate opponent Rutgers will face in its 110 year history.

RUTGERS' ALL-AMERICANS

Ed Steward, an honorable mention All-America selection last season, became the tenth Scarlet football player to earn All-America honors in the 110-year history of Rutgers football.

Steward, returning this season for his junior campaign, is the first Rutgers player chosen for All-America accolades since 1976 when defensive end Nate Toran received second team Associated Press honors.

Honored for his play at middle guard by the AP, Steward joins a select group of Scarlet players, including four First Team All-Americans.

The Scarlet Knight's first team All-Americans are Paul Robeson (1917-18), Homer Hazel (1923-24), William Austin (1958) and Alex Kroll (1961).

Between 1913 and 1918, four other Rutgers players were selected to the second and third teams by Walter Camp.

Howard Talman was named twice to Camp's third team, in 1913 as a guard and in 1914 as a halfback, and to the second team as a fullback in 1915.

Howard Talman was named twice to Camp's third team, in 1913 as a guard and in 1914 as a halfback, and to the second team as a fullback in 1915.

Bob "Nasty" Nash was a second team tackle in 1914; Al "Budge" Garrett, a third team guard in 1916; and Frank Kelley, a third team halfback in 1919.

Robeson was the Scarlet's initial first team All-American selection in 1917, and repeated the following year. He was only the third black athlete selected. The internationally known concert singer and actor, who died January 23, 1976, was the subject of a Broadway play in 1978.

Hazel, a member of the Hall of Fame, was a two-time selection as an end and fullback. In his two seasons, Rutgers compiled identical 7-1-1 records. The Scarlet great was inducted into the Hall of Fame in 1951.

Austin was named to the Associated Press' first team backfield after leading Rutgers to an 8-1 record. Austin still remains as the Scarlet's all-time total offense leader with 3,666 yards.

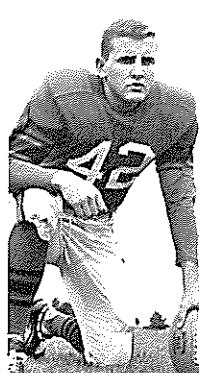

Kroll earned first team ranking on seven of nine nationally-named teams and led the Scarlet Knights to a 17-1 record in his two seasons, the second of which was the undefeated season (9-0) in 1961.

HOLY CROSS' PROSPECTS:

Optimism abounds in the Crusader football camp with 35 lettermen returning including 17 starters, seven on offense and 10 on defense. The top six rushers of a year ago all return with Crocky Nangle, who rushed for 394 yards, leading the pack. All but one starter returns from the defense of a year ago which intercepted 19 passes, recovered 20 fumbles, blocked two punts and four field goal attempts. Offensively, vacancies exist at quarterback, split end, tight end and left guard. Sophomore Dave Boisture played in spots last season and may get the nod as the signal-caller. The defense is headed by All-East safety Glenn Verrette, who was fourth in the nation in interceptions last year with seven and finished third on the Crusader tackle chart with 91.

LAST YEAR'S GAME: RUTGERS 31, HOLY CROSS 21

FITTON FIELD, WORCHESTER, MA., NOV. 18 — The Scarlet Knights overcame Holy Cross leads of 7-0, 14-10 and 21-17 to win its ninth game against one loss and accepted a bid to play in the inaugural Garden State Bowl at Giants Stadium. Fullback Glen Kehler's 33-yard TD romp following an interception rallied Rutgers in the third quarter. The final rally began when the second of three Kennan Startzell field goals set the score at 21-20 in favor of Holy Cross. However, Kehler's score and another Startzell field goal put Rutgers ahead for good in the third quarter. Kehler and Ted Blackwell sparked the Scarlet ground attack with 137 and 141 yards, respectively.

PENN STATE'S PROSPECTS:

The Lions lost 26 seniors from last year's 11-1 team with the offensive unit and the kicking hit the hardest. Six offensive starters graduated, including two All-Americans, and an All-America placekicker in Matt Bahr. Five defensive regulars also graduated last spring. Finding a quarterback to replace Chuck Fusina is a big task and his replacement will come from a group that includes Jon Lebo, Terry Rakowsky, Frank Rocco and Dayle Tate. Wide receiver Scott Fitzkee and flanker Bob Bassett plus three formidable offensive linemen, All-America tackle Keith Dorney, guard Eric Cunningham and center Chuck Correal will have to be replaced. Three outstanding running backs return, however, with Matt Suhey (720 yards), Booker Moore (602 yards) and Mike Guman (351 yards) in the fold. Six starters return on defense, paced by All-America tackles Bruce Clark and Matt Millen and All-America safety Pete Harris.

LAST YEAR'S GAME: PENN STATE 26, RUTGERS 10

BEAVER STADIUM, UNIVERSITY PARK, PA., SEPT. 9 — Matt Bahr kicked four field goals and Chuck Fusina became Penn State's career leader in touchdown passes as the third-ranked Nittany Lions dropped Rutgers 26-10 in the Scarlet's season opener. The scrappy Lion defense held Rutgers in check for much of the second half until Ed McMichael, who replaced starter Bob Hering at quarterback, hit tight end Andy Carino with a five-yard TD pass late in the final quarter. Bahr's four field goals matched the Penn State single-game record, set by brother Chris in 1974.

BUCKNELL'S PROSPECTS:

The Bison defense will be the story this season with a veteran crew returning. Three lettermen provide a solid core on the defensive line with Dave Mann, Bob Evans and Pete Mauritz in camp. The linebacking and defensive secondary return intact with the exception of graduated starter John Cieslewicz. The Bison offensive unit was the hardest hit by graduation with quarterback Glyn Lipp, fullback Joel Boyd and halfback Mike Cosimano gone. Speedy halfback Al Simmons (475 yards) is the only veteran backfield performer returning. The line appears solid with center Jim Tomeo and guard John Campana back to take up starting slots. Tackle Mike McDonald (6-2, 245) also is on hand after suffering from injuries last season.

MEMORIAL STADIUM, LEWISBURG, PA., SEPT. 23 — Despite fumbling the ball twice in the end zone, Scarlet halfback Lester Johnson scored two TDs to give Rutgers its first win of the season. Johnson, who scored on runs of one and seven yards, led all rushers with 100 yards on 22 carries. Teammate Al Maddalena recovered a Johnson end zone drop for a score while Kennan Startzell booted field goals of 28 and 22 yards in addition to converting three PATs. Rutgers rolled up 306 yards on the ground while the rugged Scarlet defense held the Bisons to nine. The Knights compiled 449 yards of total offense to Bucknell's 119.

PRINCETON'S PROSPECTS:

Second-year coach Frank Navarro lost a number of veteran players via graduation and faces a rebuilding assignment on a number of fronts. Navarro must replace his entire offensive line, fill three holes in the defensive secondary and find a replacement for All-East middle guard Peter Funke. The linebacking corps appears questionable and will receive much attention from the coaching staff. However, the Tigers appear strong at quarterback with the return of experienced seniors Ken Barrett and Steve Reynolds. Barrett (6-0, 190) passed for 574 yards a year ago while Reynolds (6-2, 190) added 500 yards and five TD tosses. Tailback Chris Crissy (6-1, 185) returns in the backfield and ranks as one of the finest players in the East. Crissy accumulated 1,100 all-purpose yards last season and is a threat whenever he touches the ball. Seniors John Corelli (5-7, 160) and Jeff Pyros (5-10, 185) will add experience to an explosive Tiger offense. The defensive line is strong with solid players returning but the secondary and linebacker positions appear relatively inexperienced.

GIANTS STADIUM, EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J., SEPT. 30 — Lester Johnson and Glen Kehler scored second-half touchdowns and Kennan Startzell added a 41-yard field goal as Rutgers beat Princeton in the nation's oldest college football rivalry. Despite a scoreless first-half, highlighted by a fierce defensive battle, Rutgers opened the second stanza with a ten-play, 76-yard scoring drive, culminated with Johnson's one-yard TD bolt. Princeton failed to generate any offense in the second-half and was stopped cold on numerous drives by the tenacious Scarlet defense. Kehler and Johnson led all rushers with 86 yards apiece.

Coach Wayne Hardin is full of confidence when speaking of his 1979 Owl squad. "Our program has progressed to the point where our players are mature enough to know they can play against anyone on our tough schedule. The players are now confident they can win the close ones." The Owls lost two fine running backs in Anthony Anderson and Zachary Dixon but the Owl passing game returns intact. Quarterback Brian Broomell (6-1, 190) along with receivers Wiley Pitts (6-2, 173) and Gerald Lucear (6-0, 165) will provide the Owls with a potent passing attack. Broomell passed for over 1,300 yards while Pitts caught 36 passes for 355 yards. Mark Bright (5-11, 201) appears to be the best running back in the Owl camp. The Owl defense is solid with everyone returning except two graduated starters. Tackle Colin McCarthy (6-3, 238) is being considered for All-America honors and anchors a strong defensive line. Punter Casey Murphy is one of the best in the nation while place kicker Ron Fiorvanti is an experienced veteran.

CONNECTICUT'S PROSPECTS:

Coach Walt Nadzak's biggest problem will be to find replacements for seven graduated offensive linemen. The Huskies, who finished tied for second in the Yankee Conference, will be inexperienced along the offensive front wall but the running back and quarterback slots appear solid. Sophomore Ken Sweitzer, who led the team in both passing and receiving, returns as the Husky signal-caller. Running back Tony Jordan (744 yards) will provide a potent rushing attack out of the Veer and Power I offensive sets. Defensive tackle Steve Beal and safety Pete Lamagna pace the Husky defensive corps.

WILLIAM & MARY'S PROSPECTS:

The biggest problem facing coach Jim Root is to find a quarterback to replace graduated Tom Rozantz and his back-up, Kevin Odor. Three candidates with little game experience will battle for the starting nod including Joe Czerkawski (6-3, 205), Alan Drewer (6-2, 200), and Chris Garrity (6-2, 185). Veteran running back Alvis Lang (648 yards) returns at fullback while tailback Clarence Gaines (405 yards) appears set as a starter. The receiving corps and defensive secondary was hit hard by graduation and the Indians must come up with a few players to fill the void. Steve Shull (6-1, 205) is an All-America candidate at linebacker and anchors a strong group of returning veterans. Both the offensive and defensive line lost a few starters but a number of experienced players will be on hand in 1979, including All-America hopeful Bill Scott, a 6-3, 245-pound offensive tackle.

TENNESSEE'S PROSPECTS:

Record-setting quarterback Jimmy Streater, who set a single-season total offense standard of 2,011 yards, is back to lead the Vol offense. Streater, a fine runner and passer, threw for 1,418 yards, completing 101 of 198 passes, and ran for 593 yards to break the record of 1,786 yards set in 1970 by Bobby Scott. However, a number of Streater's favorite receivers have graduated leaving only tight end Reggie Harper (6-3, 214) in camp. The offensive line is being rebuilt but senior guard Bill Marren (6-3, 214) and junior tackle Jay Williams (6-3, 220) have the potential for All-America status. Tim Irwin (6-6, 242), Jan Trupovnieks (6-7, 263), Alan Lynn (6-3, 220) and Tim Daniels (6-7, 259) emerge as strong candidates for starting assignments across the front. Hubert Simpson (6-1, 208) rushed for 524 yards a year ago and appears to be the top running back in camp. James Berry (5-10, 182) and Terry Daniels (5-10, 172) will challenge for starting nods. The Volunteer defense centers on the play of defensive back Roland James (6-2, 180), whom Majors calls "the best defensive back I've ever seen." James, a cornerback who intercepted seven passes for returns of 126 yards last year, joins seven other defensive starters returning in '79. The defensive line is one of the best units on the squad and is anchored by sophomore Lee Otis Burton, a 6-6, 229-pound tackle. The linebackers are solid with Craig Puki (6-0, 220) and Danny Spradlin (6-2, 222) leading the way. Veteran kicker Alan Duncan will handle place kicking duties while Dale Schneitman, who averaged 40.3 yards a boot, will punt for the Vols.

Lou Saban, arriving at West Point following a two-year stint at the University of Miami, will have 26 lettermen returning. Rebuilding the defensive unit is the first task Saban will tackle with just three starters back from the '78 club. Linebacker John Hilliard (6-0, 210) was the Cadet's leading tackler each of the past two seasons and returns for the '79 campaign. Cornerbacks Jeff Cook (6-2, 180) and Bruce Elliott (5-11, 178) will also help anchor the defense. Middle guard George Mayes (6-4, 240) is back after being sidelined with a knee injury and ranks as one of the best in the East. The offensive unit lost six starters but depth and experience abounds in the Army backfield. Earle Mulrane (6-3, 217), who passed for more than 1,400 yards last fall, returns but will be challenged by Jerry Bennett (6-1, 180) for the starting job. Jimmy Hall (6-0, 180), the team's leading rusher (678 yards) and scorer (66 points) returns to spearhead the Cadet ground attack.

The Wildcats return 28 lettermen and 14 starters from last year's team. The Wildcats have experienced runners in halfbacks Mike Gold and Dana Shelton (355 yards) in addition to Shawn Passman (7 TDs in 55 carries). The fullback slot will be contested but returning letterman Don Ziesel appears to be the top candidate. Quarterback Pat O'Brien, the 1977 ECAC Rookie of the Year, returns to direct the Cat offense after passing for 776 yards and rushing for 401 a year ago. The defensive front line lacks quickness but tackle Howie Long rates as one of the best players in the East. The linebacking corps is young but experienced while the defensive secondary is questionable as a result of the loss of four veterans. Dan Burke (6-1, 205), the team's leading tackler last season, is back as a roverback while Dave Martin (5-10, 185) paces the secondary squad. Placekicker Chuck Bushbeck (42 points) and punter Joe Borajkiewicz (38.4 avg.) will be around to handle the kicking chores.

LAST YEAR'S GAME: RUTGERS 24, VILLANOVA 9

LOUISVILLE'S PROSPECTS:

The Red Rage appears healthy again this year with the return of 14 starters including All-America candidate Otis Wilson (6-3, 225), a bruising linebacker. Wilson, who led the team in tackles with 157 and recorded six pass interceptions, anchors a solid defensive unit. Although the Cards must develop some depth throughout the defensive corps, a number of skilled veterans return to assist Wilson. Linebackers Eddie Johnson and Ricky Skiles along with lineman Dan Dihtzeruk (6-6, 256) and nose guard Jeff Henry (6-1, 240) add power to the Cardinal defense. Senior quarterback Stu Stram (5-9, 182) directs the Red Rage offense again this year after connecting on 70 of 149 passes a year ago. Speedy wide receiver Kenny Robinson (5-10, 184) is on hand to catch Stram's aeriels while a number of younger runners will be challenging for spots in the offensive backfield. The offensive line keys on veteran guards Steve Cupito (6-3, 252) and Guy Scheper (6-4, 248). Junior Joe Jacoby (6-8, 276) is expected to help solidify the offensive front.

LAST GAME: RUTGERS 34, LOUISVILLE 0

RUTGERS STADIUM, PISCATAWAY, N.J., NOV. 6, 1977 — On the way to an undefeated season, Rutgers won its eighth game of the year and its 16th straight as the Scarlet Knights attempted to join the nation's Top 20. Paced by the best defense in the nation, the Scarlet Knights held the Cardinals to 62 total yards and just three first downs. The Cardinal's flashy runner, Calvin Prince, was held to a mere 48 yards while the Scarlet lowered its scoring against average to 5.7 points a contest. Rutgers rolled up 458 yards including 94 apiece for running backs Glen Kehler and Mark Lassiter. John Washington, who carried the ball only 12 times all season, scored on two short runs and Henry Jenkins, a defensive back and the nation's number two punt returner, played on the offense as a receiver and caught a 35-yard Bert Kosup TD pass in addition to setting up another score on a 33-yard punt return.

— A CAPSULE HISTORY OF THE SERIES —

HOLY CROSS

Holy Cross leads in the series 11-6, in a rivalry that began in 1916. Rutgers defeated the Crusaders 31-21 last season en route to a 9-3 campaign and a berth in the first Garden State Bowl. The win was the ninth in a row for Rutgers and clinched the bowl bid.

PENN STATE

Rutgers and Penn State first tangled back in 1918 in this rivalry between the two State Universities. Rutgers won that game, 26-3, and then had to wait 32 years to renew the festivities. A 1950 contest initiated six straight years of play with the Nittany Lions winning all. The two schools again waited another 22 years before the Lions dropped Rutgers 45-7 before 64,790 fans at Giants Stadium in 1977. Last year at University Park, better than 76,000 fans watched Penn State fashion a hard-fought 26-10 win over Rutgers.

BUCKNELL

Bucknell has dropped 11 of the 15 contests since the teams first met in 1922. However, Bucknell played the spoiler in 1924 when the Bison handed the Homer Hazel-led Scarlet Knights their only loss in the season finale. Rutgers dropped Bucknell by a 27-13 score a year ago while the Bisons' most recent win came in 1971, a 14-13 decision over the Scarlet.

PRINCETON

Since the inaugural college football game in 1869, Princeton has built a 53-15-1 advantage in the 69-game series. Rutgers won that historic first contest but did not win another game until 1938, a 20-18 win coincident with the dedication of Rutgers Stadium. Rutgers celebrated the Centennial 10 years ago with a 29-0 romp on regional television. Over 25,000 fans witnessed the Scarlet win a 24-0 contest over Princeton last year at Giants Stadium. The most controversial game: a 6-6 tie in 1974, punctuated by the "disappearing goalposts."

TEMPLE

With a 5-3 lead in the series, the Scarlet Knights will meet the Owls for just the third time since 1954. The Owls dropped Rutgers at Veterans Stadium in 1977 by a 24-14 score before the Scarlet handed Temple a 13-10 loss last season on a last second Rutgers field goal.

CONNECTICUT

Rutgers holds a 14-5 advantage in a series that traces its origins to 1940. The Scarlet Knights played gracious visitors in 1956, dropping a 27-7 contest as the Huskies dedicated their stadium. Rutgers has won the last four games in the series, including a 10-0 win at Rutgers Stadium a year ago.

WILLIAM & MARY

The Indians and Scarlet Knights are tied at three games each in this infrequent series inaugurated in 1954. Rutgers won the 1977 meeting between the two teams by a close 22-21 score. Bob Naso, filling in for Frank Burns, who had suffered a heart attack during the season, won his first game as a collegiate head coach. Rutgers won the game on a last second touchdown pass. The Scarlet also won a 24-0 contest in 1975 and this year's game will break the series stalemate, barring a tie.

TENNESSEE

The Scarlet Knights welcome the Tennessee Volunteers and coach Johnny Majors to the Rutgers schedule. This contest is the first of a number of games between the two State Universities.

ARMY

In a series that started in 1891, Rutgers has only managed to win one of 12 games against the Cadets. The win came in the first game as Rutgers prevailed by a 27-6 score. Since then Army has won every contest, including a number of shutouts, over the Scarlet. In the last meeting between the two teams, Army handed Rutgers a 35-28 Homecoming loss in 1972.

VILLANOVA

Rutgers and Villanova have collided 10 times before with the Wildcats winning five and the Scarlet Knights five. The Scarlet lost a 1962 contest by a 34-12 score before winning last season's meeting with the Wildcats, 24-9. The Knights also defeated Villanova, 12-6, in 1959.

LOUISVILLE

Rutgers and Louisville will meet for only the second time since the series was initiated in 1976. The Scarlet Knights dropped Louisville, 34-0, in 1976 en route to an 11-0 campaign. The 1979 meeting between Rutgers and Louisville will be played on a Sunday in the beautiful state of Kentucky.

THE 1978 GARDEN STATE BOWL

"There are strange weird sights
In the Meadowlands nights
Where the Giants set records for gall
But the strangest of all
Was yesterday's call
When Rutgers lost six and the ball."

Jerry Izenberg
The Star Ledger
12-17-78

Celebrated columnist Jerry Izenberg went on to write in his post-game article that things were on their way to a nice orderly finish with four minutes and 44 seconds remaining in the Garden State Bowl, Arizona State leading by a 28-18 score over the upstart Scarlet.

"And then," wrote Izenberg, "Kennan Startzell kicked the ball.

"Mechanically, it was the perfect squibber. It has been done on a million football fields and when it works the kickoff team recovers. The ball bounced off of Arizona State's Morris Williams . . . it bounced off of Arizona State's Alvin Moore . . . it bounced off of Rutgers' Mark Freeman . . . it skidded under the belly of Arizona State's Henry Pollard and came to rest underneath Rutgers' Craig Nielsen — in the Arizona State end zone. This is not unlike hunting for a home run.

"One official signalled touchdown — six points for Rutgers. A second apparently signalled touchback — Arizona's ball on its own 20. A third signalled toward the heavens with outstretched hands, which according to the annotated NCAA Hymnal and Prayer Book means: 'Why me, O Lord?'

"And upfield there was a yellow flag, signalling Rutgers had been offside at the start of the play."

Izenberg's column caught the moment inimitably. The resolution of the confusion did not favor the Scarlet Knights. The offside penalty (no one yet knows for sure if it was Startzell or another Rutgers player) was ruled after which the Sun Devils used up the remaining time, scoring with just 19 seconds left.

A Scarlet TD would have brought the score to 28-24 and a two-point conversion could have made it a two-point ball game. Who knows what might have happened next, particularly with Rutgers at an emotional peak?

Rutgers lost in its first post-season bowl, 34-18, but for nearly 36 minutes of play, the underdog Scarlet led the PAC-10 power. In fact, few of the 33,402 fans would have ruled out an upset had Rutgers been able to push over another first period score following Bob Hynoski's interception which put the ball at the Arizona State four-yard line. However, the Scarlet fumbled and lost the ball on the first play.

A score would have made it 17-0, following Dave Dorn's 47-yard TD scamper on the first Scarlet possession just 2:53 into the game and Startzell's 46-yard field goal with 4:26 left in the period. The 10-0 count held until the Sun Devils scored on a 14-yard pass with a minute remaining in the half.

The sky-high Scarlet defense had limited the Sun Devils to only 51 rushing yards in the first half and shut off the passing attack, allowing only five completions. The tide would turn before the bizarre bounce.

GARDEN STATE BOWL (CONTINUED)

Arizona State needed just 1:30 and 1:38 for a pair of 64-yard scoring drives in the third period, QB Mark Malone hitting John Mistler and Chris DeFrance on respective 26 and 53 yarders to bolt ahead 21-10 at the end of the third period. The score mounted to 28-10 after 1:35 of the final quarter on a Malone sneak.

Ed McMichael, going all the way in the second half after Bob Hering had handled the Scarlet QB chores for the first 30 minutes, opened up the air waves and finally found Ted Blackwell on a 25-yarder which put the ball at the Sun Devil five-yard line. Blackwell broke off right tackle for a TD on the next play and then caught a two-point conversion from McMichael at the fateful 4:44 mark.

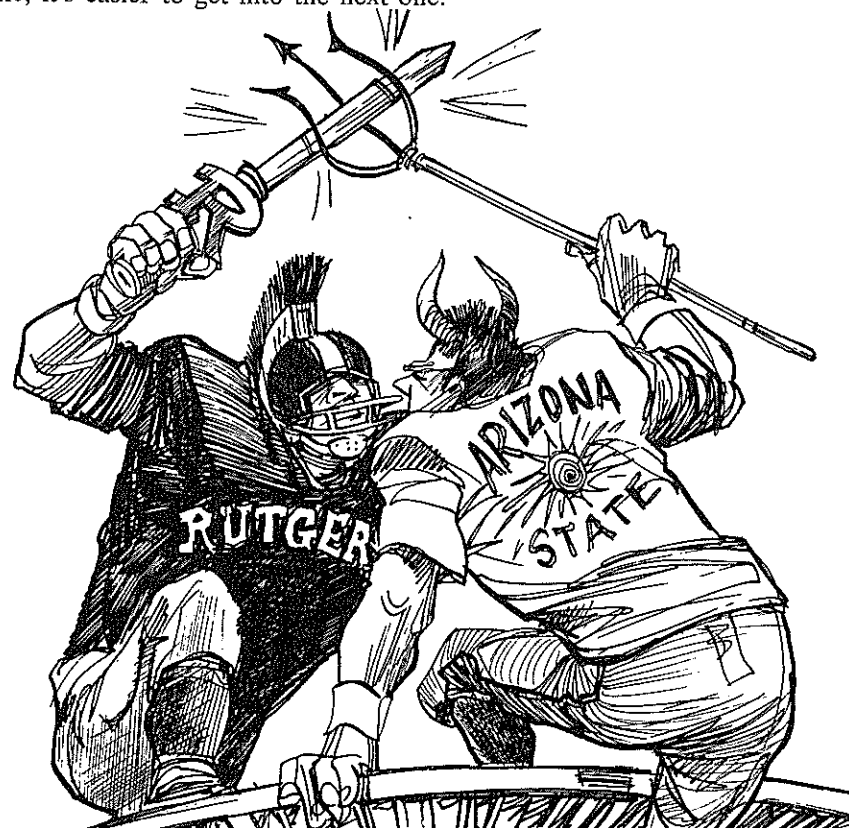

But, the miracle that might have followed failed to meet the come-back script.

Frank Burns added the proper postscript.

"We might have won the game with a few breaks and a little consistency early. I'm very disappointed that we didn't win, but I think our kids played well and showed themselves to be competitive with a team like Arizona State. We are building a program, and being here and playing competitively is another step."

Frank Kush recognized the great Scarlet effort and praised the inaugural GSB. "I think this bowl is going to become one of the great ones in the country, once people realize that Rutgers has a good football team and can play with anyone."

Will the Scarlet go bowling again? Says Burns, "Once you get into a bowl game, it's easier to get into the next one."

RUTGERS FOOTBALL ON THE AIR

All Rutgers games will be broadcast by WCTC, 1450 AM, with a growing list of New Jersey stations picking up a feed from the flagship station. The student station, WRSU, 88.7 FM, will also originate each game. JerseyVision, New Jersey Public TV (Channels 23, 50, 52, 58) plans tapes of the Holy Cross, Penn State, Princeton, Temple, Army and Villanova games.

FOUNDATION

Scarlet R . . . The Team Behind the Teams

As the "team" behind the teams, the Scarlet R program plays a vital role in Rutgers University reaching new levels of success in athletic competition. Scarlet R members provide the needed funds to sustain a competitive program and to keep Rutgers teams among the best in the nation. As the Scarlet R program continues to grow, its basic purpose remains the same — to provide financial aid for qualified student-athletes and to improve the quality of men's and women's intercollegiate athletics at Rutgers University.

Additional information concerning the Scarlet R Club may be obtained by contacting Scarlet R Club, Rutgers University Foundation, 191 College Avenue, New Brunswick, N. J. 08903, Anthony D. Oliva, Executive Secretary, (201) 932-7629.
